SAN BERNARDINO—First District San Bernardino County Supervisor Bill Postmus announced today that San Bernardino County Officials will be available at three different locations to assist qualified applicants for assistance with home energy costs. The officials will help applicants in determining their eligibility and filling out required paperwork.

Below are the times and locations for the next three Energy Assistance Outreach programs:

Staff from the Office of Supervisor Postmus will be joined by representatives from the County Departments of Community Services, Aging and Adult Services, and Economic and Community Development. These departments offer programs that can provide temporary and limited assistance to those who qualify based on income, residency and other factors. Programs range from one-time utility bill assistance to home weatherization. The Outreaches provide a "one-stop" setting to inquire about and apply for services. More than 500 people have received assistance after applying through outreaches that have been held in Victorville, Needles and Joshua Tree.
